AS ADVANCE GUARD 20,000 GALLONS

Co. C, Sixth Regiment, is Given Important Position

Foreign Army Officers Who Are Watching Game Compliment Lowell Company For Their Good Work—Latest News from Front by The Sun's Special Correspondent

Bridgewater, Aug. 16.—Editor Sun:—On Saturday night the Red army slept under their arms in anticipation of a night attack. They were quartered in the army pup tents and slept in the wooden bunkers as the men didn't enjoy the comforts of a cot bed such as the army was supplied with in the maneuvers at Pine Plains last year. It was reported Saturday that the Red and Blue armies would clash before Sunday morning so the men were fully equipped and supplied with blank ammunition in preparation for the battle. At one o'clock Sunday morning the Sixth regiment was aroused from its slumber and ordered to pitch tents, the destination of the command being unknown. The regiment marched from camp at exactly two o'clock under sealed orders, Col. Priest in command. The file which the men took proved to be the most tiresome journey they have yet undertaken. The command marched over 10 miles and reached Tilton at 6 o'clock, where the regiment was thrown out in advance guard formation. Co. C was given the most important duty to perform, the company being sent out to explore the country and ascertain the location of the enemy. Cos. G and K halted a half-mile below Tilton with the remainder of the regiment and acted as the reserve. Co. C continued on its march for over a mile and pitched camp on the grounds of the Bridgewater state farm on the side of the hill, an excellent position to guard any approach of the enemy. It certainly was a weary looking crowd of men that halted at the above grounds. They had been marching from 3 to 6:30 in the morning continuously and were quick to take advantage of the opportunity to rest themselves. Reports were coming in to camp that the Red army was on its way and would attack probably Sunday night. Co. C was divided into different patrols and was ordered out to ascertain the location of the Red army. Scouts under command of Cos. Trembley, Crowe and Linquist explored the surrounding country for miles but could find no sight of the Red army. Corsack posts have been established along the line and all roads and bridges have been guarded by the Blue army. It is thought that possibly the Red army will meet the Blue somewhere in the vicinity of North Middleton or Tilton. The South regiment occupied the center of the Blue army forces with the Second Mass. regiment on their right and the Fighting Ninth on their left. Rations were served the men Sunday noon on the field as it was expected that the Red army would strike at any moment and the Blue forces were not taking any chances and were on the lookout. Sunday afternoon, Scouts Boudreau and Trembley went down the Taunton River in a rowboat for several miles and after exploring the country on both sides of the river reported back that no signs of the enemy could be seen. It was reported late Sunday afternoon that the Red army had encamped at Lakeville, which is about fifteen miles from the outposts of Co. C. After scouting through the surrounding country scouts came from headquarters Sunday afternoon at 3:30 that a true bugle had been declared until 5 o'clock Monday morning. The news that a true bugle had been declared was received with great joy as the men had been on the go since one o'clock Sunday morning and were glad to get a rest. The main body of the Sixth regiment is still encamped near Tilton while Co. C, which is acting as an advance guard, are camping on the grounds of the Bridgewater state farm. After assembling the outposts Co. C marched back to their camp and pitched tents for the night. Both Boudreau and Hartman had a feed of ham potatoes, corn bread and coffee prepared for the men, which was eaten with a relish. The company turned into their tents for the night as early as eight o'clock and were soon sleeping as sound as if they were at home in feather beds. It was a very quiet night, the men now sleeping peacefully through the night much to their great relief. Some of them sat up all night watching for news which had been sent out at midnight. In addition to the Red army, the men were awakened at about a short time before sunrise and were busily engaged in making preparations to start on the road. At five o'clock the scouts were again sent out and the remainder of the company halted this side of the Red bridge, and as this is the most important stronghold the company has thrown up entrenchments to hold the enemy back. As this is the most accessible road it is thought that the Red army will try and drive the advance guard back at this bridge and endeavor to gain possession of the road. Co. G has just been ordered out to do so at day. The men are eagerly awaiting news of the enemy's approach and they are eating their rations in the trenches. Without a doubt fighting will commence in earnest before mid-night.

CAMP NOTES

All mail for the troops should be addressed to the company and regiment, Bridgewater, Mass.

There hasn't been much initiating of the Rookies in any of the commands yet as the men appeared to be tired out. Co. C has a squad of nine men to put through the different degrees but as the men in charge of this work are still on the water wagon, much to the surprise of the rest of the command everything has been quiet, but no doubt there will be things doing before the week is over.

Capt. Greig of Co. K reports that Private Harry Thibell is doing more work this year than last. Evidently Harry is in much better health this year than last.

Private Church of Co. G reports that he was chased by the enemy last night while on his way to camp from Bridgewater. As church had just come from a town party it is thought that he probably had been dreaming about some of the fair sex.

Private Boudreau of Co. C was attending a lawn party at Bridgewater Saturday night. Tommy had an exciting experience while on his way home. He ran into a nest of rattlesnakes and his trusty rifle was at the camp he grabbed a snake by the neck and succeeded in killing it. Many of the men doubted his story, but as he carried the snake to camp with him, the boys are taking up a subscription to buy him a medal for his heroic deed. Scrgt. Powers promised also to present him with a leather one.

Joe Malone and Billy Rourke of Co. G report that camping at Bridgewater is far ahead of farming in Billerica.

Billy Axon, bugler of Co. G, has no desire to return home as he is thinking of taking up his residence in Bridgewater.

Corp. Hoyt and Private Moody of Co. K are anxiously awaiting to hear from the enemy, as they are anxious to make a name for themselves in the coming battle.

One of the most earnest and hard working officers in the Sixth regiment is Capt. Gardner W. Pearson of Co. C.

Corp. Crowe of Co. C was sent out with a patrol Sunday morning to explore the country in the vicinity of Middleton.

While on duty an automobile containing the foreign army officers who are here from England, Germany, France and Russia, watching the movements came up. They questioned Corp. Crowe on his position, the location of his company and what he was doing. After questioning him for fifteen minutes they highly complimented Co. C on its location and remarked that the regular army could cover the ground any more thoroughly.

The men are complaining of sore feet after the long march Sunday morning and some of them can be seen bathing and washing their feet at every favorable opportunity.

Without doubt this year's tour of duty will be the most strenuous work since the Spanish-American war in '83.

The Fighting Twelfth, S. Cavalry, under Lt. Col. F. M. Phillips, are part of the Red forces.

GOING TO ITALY

ALLAHABAD, India, Aug. 17.—The Duke of the Abruzzi will return from Kashmir to Peshawar where he will remain to India as soon as his expedition has explored the entire frontier system of which the British officer is the captain. The separate results obtained by the expedition are considered most valuable.

—Lowell Automobile Club Buys 5000 Gallons From Gulf Refining Company

The contract for the oil to be used on the Merrimack Valley course, the city's end of the contract, was awarded a few days ago but owing to the absence of Purchasing Agent Mackenzie who was with the mayor in Springfield and New York, the figures were not obtainable until today.

The contract for 15,000 gallons of heavy standard asphalt road oil went to C. C. Culver. The oil must conform to the Massachusetts highway commission's specifications.

The contract for 5,000 gallons, to be purchased by the Lowell Automobile club, went to the Gulf Refining company, a branch of the Gulf Refining Co. of Boston. The oil is to be driven in the various events of the Merrimack Valley race.

LOSS IS $100,000

Disastrous Fire Broke Out in Rochester, N. H. Today

ROCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 17.—The Salinger block on Central square, this city, containing the dry goods store of Isidore Salinger, one of the largest stores in this section of New Hampshire, was destroyed by fire today. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

The Salinger block was four stories high, built of wood and tin sheeting. The entire first floor was occupied by the dry goods store of Isidore Salinger, the owner of the block, while on the second floor were the bakery shop of Arthur Black and the office of Dr. A. S. Ames. The third and fourth floors were given over to assembly halls.

On account of the chilly weather it was deemed advisable to start a fire in the furnace in the basement this forenoon. Whether there was some defect in the heating apparatus has not yet been ascertained but soon after the fire was kindled the quantities of smoke began to pour out of the basement and soon permeated the entire building. In a short time the entire structure was ablaze. Seeing that it was impossible to save the structure the firemen directed their attention to the surrounding property.

During the fire Michael Spain, a fireman, was struck by the lead by the portion of a falling chimney and was believed to have suffered dangerous injuries.

Mr. Salinger's stock of dry goods was destroyed. He said that his stock was worth $50,000 and the block was valued at $40,000. The balance of the loss fell upon the tenants of the second floor and the owners of the furniture in the two assembly halls.

WIFE WAS STARVING

Man Says That He Stole Food For Her

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—In a dingy furnished room at No. 212 East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street, a woman lay ill. There was a food in the room. She had eaten nothing since Saturday night. Neither had the man who said he gave her the bread.

Suddenly he was startled by a cry: "Oh, Will, Will! You dying? If I don't get something to eat—I'll die now."

The man sprang to his feet. Through all the years of poverty and illness, since their marriage, this was the first utterance of despair or protest she had made. And he saw that the only reason she made it now was that she was speaking in her sleep.

The man went to an old cupboard and took down a battered saucer and a broken spoon—two of the only things the pauperized husband had refused. Then he went out into the rain. The woman slept.

It was shortly after 4 p.m. that Bowman Zelde met a study club, rain-drenched man, journeying through One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street with a saucer which seemed to heavy him. The policeman stopped him and opened the saucer. It contained, instead, a mast of beet and a string of sausages.

"Yes, I needed it," the man said quickly. "I stole it for my wife—she's dying. You see, we can't afford to eat, and then I'll go with you."

But the policeman took him to the First One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street station and had him locked up. He said his name was William E. Bowman, a steamship steward, on his way to work.

When he got into town, the Barbican magistrate, Bowman was in a bad mood, so he turned to his superior, John G. Hunt, aged 75 years. Hunt held a hearing and sent him to the County jail.

He was held until the next morning. "The instant I got out of work, the two men who had him locked up last night went two weeks ago, and since then we have tried to get him released. I could find nothing about him. My wife has consumption, and when she needs food for her she steals it from me without asking. You see, we can't afford to eat, and then I'll go with you."

"I shall have to be held here in Stateville," he said, "but if you'll let me go home, I'll be a good son. I'm a good son, and when I go to the doctor, I will send my permission written to your wife with this money." He drew out a bank note. "Your wife should be very satisfied in every way now.

No Discrimination in the Case of France

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—There has been any discrimination against France in the application of the provisions of the new tariff to that country, officers of this government are not aware of it.

They are quite confident that the impression which seems to obtain in some quarters in France is founded upon a complete misunderstanding. The facts may be shortly stated from the point of view of the executive branch of this government.

In the first place France, together with Switzerland and Bulgaria had reciprocity arrangements with the United States under the terms of which certain of their products were admitted to this country at considerably reduced rates compared with those that were paid by countries which did not enjoy such agreements.

But other countries shortly after, seeing the advantage that the three countries enjoyed over, entering into similar reciprocal agreements with the United States. In their case, however, the arrangement was taken to stand in the way of the treaties or agreements that the exact period of time and manner required to terminate them, a course followed in the arrangements with France, Switzerland and Bulgaria.

This action was duly communicated by the state department to France, Switzerland and Bulgaria, the executive branch of the government being absolutely bound by the direction of congress in this matter.

At the same time it should be noted that the President is entirely willing to consider carefully any representations in the nature of a protest that may be made. Indeed, there is reason to believe that exchanges on the subject have already taken place.

It may be interesting to know just what effect the application of the new tariff would have on the commercial relations between France and the United States, presuming the normal course was followed and that what might be the results of a trifling war brought about through the application by both countries of protective measures.

The balance of trade with France was in our favor during the fiscal year 1908, showing exports of $116,000,000 as against imports of $102,000,000, in reversal of conditions in the previous year, when French imports amounted to $125,000,000 as against exports to that country of $111,000,000.

The country will suffer from a tariff war between France and the United States, owing and repeats to be made by applying the maximum rates of the respective tariffs.

The maximum rates of France show large increases over the minimum or conventional rates, while the minimum rates of this country also show large increases in the articles covered by the reciprocity agreement.

Classes of Goods Affected.

America would feel the effects in the exports of dried meats, table fruits, dried or pressed fruits, confectionery, wood, logs, lumber, prepared foods, mineral oils, lead and Porto Rico coffee, while France would be hard hit in exports to the United States of brandies, still wines and vermouth and champagne, which form a large element of her trade with this country.

France has applied but about 25 articles on her minimum tariff list to the United States, and half of these are intended mainly for benefit of her allies and do not profit by the reciprocity agreement.

These products form a good portion of our exports to France under the reciprocity agreement.

Both Would Suffer.

This action was duly communicated by the state department to France, Switzerland and Bulgaria, the executive branch of the government being absolutely bound by the direction of congress in this matter.

When the reciprocity agreement with France expires Oct. 31, her exports will be required to bear on American imports in excess of from $1,750 to $2,000 a proof gallon on brandies, or other materials, an increase of from 33 cents to 35 and 66 cents a gallon, a proportionately increasing increase of 10 cents over the 100 kilograms Porto Rico coffee by the application of the French maximum rates would be increased to duty from 135 francs on 100 kilograms to 200 francs on 100 kilograms. Porto Rico coffee by the application of the French maximum rates would be increased to duty from 135 francs on 100 kilograms to 200 francs, while coke and refined mineral oils would be required to pay 18 francs and 25 francs on 100 kilograms, an advance from nine francs respectively, the conventional rates.

These products form a good portion of our exports to France under the reciprocity agreement.

ADVENTURE OF A LITTLE FEL.

The Wrong Man.
BROWN is going around with a variegated eye. This is the story that he is telling his friends:

"It was such a petty thing that the more I thought of it the madder I got. The milkman leaves my milk before the sun is up. It is somewhat later when I feel called upon to leave my bed, and during the time that the milk remains on the back porch some one has been making it a practice to steal it. It is more than provoking to find when breakfast is ready that you have no milk for your coffee."

"I set all manner of traps to catch the thief, without success. Then I hired one of the neighbor's boys to sit up and keep watch. But the next morning I found the milk gone and the boy asleep."

"The other morning I chanced to be awake just before sunrise, and I heard some one fumbling with the milk can on the back porch. Hastily throwing on my dressing gown, I stepped softly to the door and threw it open suddenly."

"In the dim light I could see a man bending over the can, and, without stopping to see if he was a bigger man than I, I sprang at him with blood in my eye. The shock threw him off the porch, and we rolled down the steps together, fighting like a couple of wildcats."

"We must have made an awful racket, for I heard the windows going up all round me, and some one was blowing a police whistle, while my wife was wringing her hands upon the porch."

"I got my man down at last and sat upon him. We were both a sight, being covered with milk from head to foot."

"It had grown a little lighter by this time, and my wife, taking in the situation, gasped:

"John, that's the milkman that you are sitting on!"

"It was, for a fact, and explanations were in order."

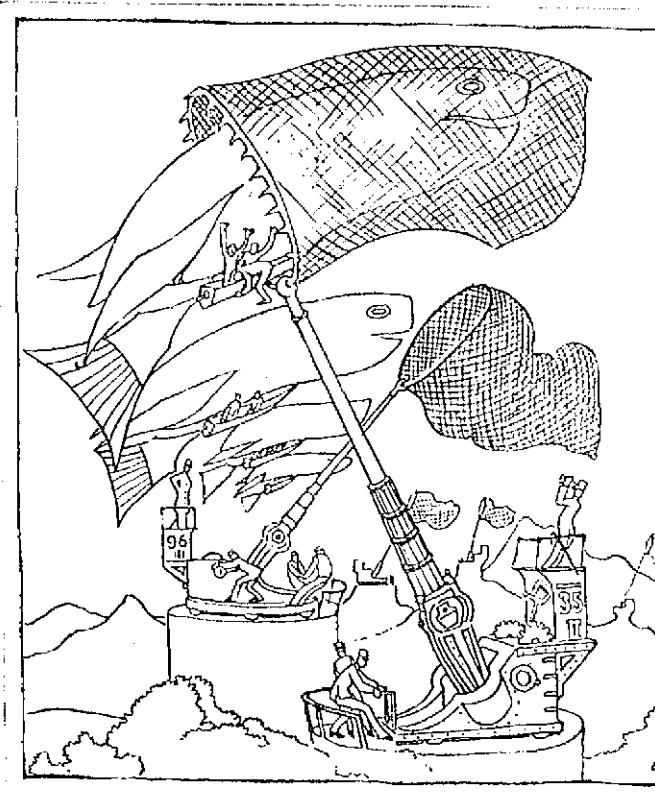

"I understand that the milkman is going around exhibiting his wounds and saying that I made a brutal and cowardly attack upon a defenseless man and increasing the amount of damages he is going to sue me for at every telling."

"Meanwhile some one is stealing my milk."

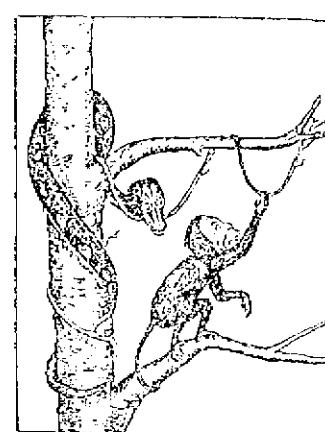

What He Meant.
"THE ills that are easiest to bear," said the philosopher, "are—"

"I know, I know," interrupted the friend. "You mean to say that when you get right down to it the ills that are the easiest to bear are the real rather than the imaginary ones that seem so great?"

"On the contrary, I mean that the ills that are easiest to bear are the ills of other people."

Hearings of Complaints Against Local Dealers Postponed

Two members of the board of police met at the office of the board this afternoon for the purpose of giving hearings to Conney & Co. of the Merrimac hotel and Andrew P. Roach, who complained against him that he violated the conditions of his common victualler's license and was found to be a common victualler.

The hearing was opened shortly before three o'clock in the court of record sessions, Commissioner Burns acting as chairman.

Present at the hearing was Simon B. Higgin, former chairman of the board of police.

The first matter taken up was the complaint against Conney & Co. of the Merrimac House. John J. Hogan, acting as counsel for Conney & Co., asked for a continuance on the ground that he would prefer to have the matter heard before a full board and also that he would like to have the hearing continued until after the superior court had passed on the appeal of the board of police which had been removed by Mayor Brown. He said he would like to have the case continued for at least two weeks.

Commissioner Parthenais favored a continuance of the matter until Sept. 21 and made a motion to that effect. Commissioner Burns said that he would agree to a continuance because there were many matters in connection with the office that he was not thoroughly acquainted with.

It was finally decided to postpone the hearing until Sept. 21 at 5 p.m.

Lawyer Babett Crowley appeared for Mr. Roach and he also asked for a continuance until the superior court has given a decision in the police board matter. He asked that the hearing on the Roach case be continued until Sept. 28. The continuance was granted.

Three hearings are scheduled to take place tonight. Thomas F. Brennan, who conducts the Blackthorn in Middlesex street, will have to answer to a complaint charging him with selling liquor to an intoxicated person, while a second complaint alleges that he has ceased to be a common victualler.

P. F. Cox & Co. and Conney & Co. are also scheduled to appear before the board tonight for the purpose of showing why their license should not be suspended or revoked because of alleged violations of the common victualler law.

For tomorrow night at eight o'clock complaints against John J. Brennan of Middlesex street and Anthony Robinson & Co. of Church street are down for hearings.

The case against the Washington Tavern will not come up before the board until the 24th.

The licensees of the Merrimac hotel are charged with having violated the conditions of their license by selling intoxicating liquors to other than guests of the hotel and a second charge alleges that on diverse dates the licensees, their agents, servants or clerks did sell intoxicating liquors to diverse persons, said persons being under the influence of liquor at the time service was made.

SPRAINED HIS ANKLE

RHEIMS, France, Aug. 17.—Glen Curtiss, the American aviator, sprained his ankle in his machine yesterday but today he is able to direct the repairs to his airplane. Answering a question he said he could not state when he would resume his flights. The storm which last night swept over Aerodrome here destroying its roof was responsible for slight injuries to 200 workmen.

Curtiss Field Bishop, the foreign representative of the Aero club of America, gave denial today of the rumor that the Wright brothers proposed suing Mr. Curtiss for alleged violation of their rights. He added that the relations between the Wrights and Mr. Curtiss were most cordial.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—As usual in stormy weather Coney had the leather goods, clothing, and the worst rain in the memory of the oldest inhabitants of Middlesex County to see, excepting the winter of 1862-63 when it rained.

At Ocean Beach and Surf avenue the greatest damage was suffered by a boy with wings caps on a rock where there was only land before. The new flight of the day was delayed by a strong wind and when it was half way to the beach the boy was blown off the rock. The boy was so far out to sea that he had to swim back to shore.

THE TARIFF BILL THEFT OF BEEF LOST HIS LIFE POL CALENDAR A LIVELY BLAZE TEXTILE NOTES

No Discrimination in the Case of France

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—If there has been any discrimination against France in the application of the provisions of the new tariff to that country, officers of the government are not aware of it.

They are quite confident that the impression which seems to obtain in some quarters in France is founded upon a complete misunderstanding. The facts need to be simply stated from the point of view of the executive branch of the government.

In the first place France, together with Switzerland and Bulgaria had reciprocal arrangements with the United States under which certain of their products were admitted to this country of considerably reduced rates compared with those that were paid by countries which did not enter such agreements.

But other countries, mostly in Europe, seeing the advantages that the three countries named were enjoying entered into similar reciprocity agreements with the United States. In their case, however, the protection was taken to state in the body of the treaties or arrangements the exact period of the legal notice required to terminate them—unless not followed in the arrangements with France, Switzerland and Bulgaria.

In enacting the new tariff congress directed the president to have regard to the stipulated periods in terminating the reciprocity arrangements with the various countries, and also provided that where there was no stipulated term six months from April 30 was to be regarded as the date of termination.

Both Would Suffer.

This action was duly communicated by the state department to France, Switzerland and Bulgaria, the executive branch of the government being absolutely bound by the direction of congress in this matter.

At the same time it is stated that the President is entirely willing to consider carefully any representations in the nature of a protest that may be made. Indeed, there is reason to believe that exchanges on the subject have already taken place.

It may be interesting to know just what effect the application of the new tariff would have on the commercial relations between France and the United States, presuming the normal course was followed, and also what might be the results of a tariff war brought about by the application by both countries of punitive maximum rates.

The balance of trade with France was in our favor during the fiscal year 1908, showing exports of $116,000,000 as against imports of $102,000,000, in reversal of conditions in the previous year, when French imports amounted

Charged Against a New Youth Was Drowned in York Man

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—William J. Bancher, a man of 45, who said that he had been two days and had been driven to desperation by the need of his dying wife for nourishing food, which he had been unable to provide for her, was arrested yesterday, charged with breaking into a meat shop and stealing a quantity of beef.

He had a dress suit case full of gold and gold jewelry when arrested.

"For several days," said Bancher, "I have been unable to obtain work. My wife is a consumptive and always dying, and I had no way to get the clothing at the shop. So I got together some tools, went to the meat shop near my house, where I used to buy when I had money, and took in the rear door. I was only going home with the meat when I was arrested."

The man's story excited Magistrate Becker's sympathies, and he ordered a probation officer to investigate the case, instructing the officer to predict Mrs. Bancher with anything she might need if the magistrate's expenses should be held. Bancher is still held for further examination.

RADIUM'S HARM

Is Said to Have Been Reduced

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—Since radium has been tentatively employed in curing deep-seated diseases in the human body, German experts have been studying the problem now to apply the radiation to the spine desired without hurting the skin which is as is well known, exceedingly sensitive to the emanations of the rays. The Medizinsche Wochenschrift of Munich has an article by Dr. Gottwald Schwarz, who communicates the result of two years' study of the subject.

He began his experiments by observing that the constituents of the various salts to Roentgen rays varied materially according to the activity of the processes of development of the salt within the cell. Dry seeds in which the energy of life is in a latent condition could support radiations for days without injury, but grain that had begun to sprout showed itself exceedingly sensitive to rays even of small power. This led Dr. Schwarz to the hypothesis that the human skin might be safe against injury if its activity were reduced as far as possible.

Simple experiments on human beings resulted in a surprisingly clear confirmation of this discovery. The arms of one person were subjected to the action of a millionth capsule applied loosely and in another case strapped tightly round the arm so as to arrest the blood circulation locally. In the first case the Roentgen burns appeared in due course but in the second there were no ill effects.

Similar experiments on a human head resulted in boldness being produced on the spot where the active skin had been subjected to the emanations, but when the blood circulation had been reduced by means of pressure the hair was not harmed. Mechanical pressure, Dr. Schwarz concludes, is only one means of producing immunity.

MORE CHANGES MADE IN THE ARCHDIOCESE OF BOSTON.

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—The Armenians of Boston and vicinity passed resolutions which condemned the delay of justice and the present attitude of the Ottoman government toward their compatriots in Asia Minor, where 25,000 Armenians were recently butchered in an uprising instigated by the Turks, in a mass meeting of 300 held Sunday, at 22 Washington street. The following telegram was sent to the Grand Vizier and the parliament of the Ottoman empire, and to Mgr. Tourian, the patriarch of the Armenian church in Turkey:

"Having hailed the establishment of the Ottoman constitution, we, the Armenians of Boston and vicinity, shocked by the recent awful massacre of Ophir, and by the indifference shown by the Ottoman government, and after having our expectations bitterly disappointed by the belated justice, assembled in mass meeting, Aug. 16, 1909, most strenuously against the acquisition of despotism attributed to the Armenians as a means of persecution, and condemned the injustices of the martial court of Adana, which failed to punish the real authors of the crime. We also express our indignation for the execution of the six Armenians and the nine Turks who were but blind tools. As citizens of the Ottoman empire, we demand an end put to the persecutions of the Armenians of Ophir, and the severe punishment of the real criminals whose escape from justice is an affront to the constitution of law and justice."

THE LOWELL SUN

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1908 was 15,956

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Poffe, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1909. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Only three weeks more to Clerical Week.

Have you been offered the police commissionership yet?

Indications are that the municipal campaign will be a lively one, with plenty of seekers after the mayoralty nominations, at least on the democratic side.

When you talk about Lowell's record in the sporting world, don't forget that the cricketers are holding up their end in the league games, and also defending the city's reputation as a winner.

President Taft calls General Adelton Ames a "rosy old man," and well he may, for the general trounced the president in several games of golf, and it was not until "Friday, the thirteenth," that President Taft shook the "hoodoo."

A WISE PRECAUTION.

The managers of the automobile carnival have exercised considerable precaution in requesting that the Banevard course be policed during the few weeks preceding the auto carnival. Had some steps in this direction been taken before one accident at least would have been averted. Local automobileists as well as visitors had an idea that when they reached the race course they were privileged to speed their machines to the limit. The managers of the races saw the danger of accidents, and also the damage that might occur to the race course, by this indiscriminate speeding, and acted wisely when they asked the police to take charge of the track.

A GOOD LOCAL SIGN.

The report that there is a rush of business at the Lowell machine shop, or the "big shop" as we of Lowell know it, is an indication of business prosperity. For years the saying in this city has been "when the big shop has a rash of orders there is no danger of a panic." Never before in the history of the L. M. S. has there been such an accumulation of orders as at the present time. When a company is obliged to advertise for skilled help one can appreciate the demand for its product. Aside from this view of the matter, such demand is a tribute to the excellence of local skill and workmanship. Prosperity for the big manufacturing concerns of our city means better conditions for local laborers, and also increased revenues for the local merchants.

THE POT BEGINS TO SIMMER.

Inasmuch as we failed to get our crazy-quilt city charter amended or the Luce law repealed, we must, for the present at least, continue to nominate our candidates for municipal offices in the old way. It will, therefore, be a contest between the democratic and republican parties for control of our city government. As usual the political pot begins to simmer in the month of August, and interest centers mainly in the mayoralty.

The democrats have a decided advantage this year if they are wise enough to make the most of it. The republicans make no secret of the fact that they are sick and disgusted and ashamed of their candidate of last year who now occupies the highest office in the city as a result of a municipal spree for which the "grand old party" was wholly responsible. They want some candidate of brains, character, ability and common decency to run against the present incumbent for the republican nomination, but so far no man of that stripe has shown the necessary courage. They're all afraid of entering what they call a dirty fight, but they are ready to vote for a clean and capable democratic candidate for mayor if such a candidate is presented to them at the polls.

This is just where the opportunity for the local democrats comes in, but are they equal to the opportunity? We regret to say that the present indications would lead one to conclude that they are not. Whether they shall open their eyes and come to their senses in time to save our city from another year of chaotic and political illegitimacy remains to be seen.

Already there are several democrats in the field for the office of mayor. Some of them are capable and others are not. There are men mentioned who could be elected if a general deficit credit upon the city, upon their party and upon themselves. On the other hand there are candidates who stand as clean-cut as any electing office持者 and who are fully aware of the fact. They are in the contest from purely selfish and unworthy motives and it is for the present mayors. That such men should receive the backing of democrats who consider themselves leaders in the party and who are seeking to keep up its prestige in the present state of the parties for better or worse, is a tragedy in itself.

Under the old charter law the local citizens could get a reasonable expression of their preferences through a convention of party delegates elected by wards and precincts. The new charter does not permit this into effect unless they are right and willing to do it practically. Thus they have failed to be of much use, for they put up no candidates, got no place into their ward meetings, they will not come up to heel, then again delivered to the enemy.

There is nothing in the law to prevent a representative gathering of democrats to consider the interests of the party, and if they do it they would only bring about such a meeting as an early day, the brilliant and honest sentiment of the democratic party in Lowell would be crystallized into a movement that would result in the nomination, through the regular process of a ticket for mayor and aldermen that would sweep the city. December and return it from a ever increasing evils resulting in a general disarray and public disgrace.

SEEK AND HEARD

Marriage is the cold peace that follows a hot courting.

X-rage will probably never be popular with employers.

Presence of dollars goes hand in hand with lack of personal worth.

An American lawyer who expects to find a good place to live in Lowell is the educated man who is that often in great demand, and can be found in great numbers.

Some such a man would be welcome if he could find only through his own efforts a place to live in Lowell.

Plato's definition of the ideal that long ago charmed the world over and still does not seem to have changed.

A fellow who has a knowledge of what he wants to do and is willing to do it himself is the kind of man that would succeed in Lowell. At the moment he is likely to find that the best chance of finding a place to live in Lowell is to buy a house and let his wife manage it for him, and his children go to school. In fact, the man who wants to live in Lowell is the one who has the money to buy a house and let his wife manage it.

The person who goes into a home and the person who leaves it should know the temper of the people that had saved his home. "Well, I can tell you, it is still the same old story. I think it is all the same old story."

"Why isn't your wife a good provider?" said the old man.

SIC TRANSIT GLORIA MUNDI

But where is the man?

He can't be in Lowell, and

Each time he comes back.

And who is going to take care of him?

He made a foolish mistake.

And so the man that was adopted

Adopted by the wife, who is now

Whatever the wife, is now

In China.

It sounds like the disappearance of

Would leave no wife, no child,

Men marry for love, but

To teach his wife to earn her hand.

Upon their shoulders, in my life,

He rose to triumph, and I failed,

And built a temple of gold and

The admiration thereof.

Ah, poor Mr. Smith, it is true that

Because I left him, he is dead,

The birth of a child, and death,

Because his other son died,

They have given him a home,

And the nation has given him

To him, the man that was adopted

Thus the scene of life is played,

In war and peace, in joy and忧愁,

The deck is set, the stage is laid,

By whom? By me, and I failed,

From the scenes of life, my boy, my boy,

Your birthright has been lost,

But if you would spend a few days

You must learn to bring in a widow,

LOSS IS $100,000

Disastrous Fire Broke Out in Rochester, N. H. Today

ROCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 17.—The Salinger block on Central square, this city, containing the dry goods store of Isidore Salinger, one of the largest stores in this section of New Hampshire, was destroyed by fire today. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

The Salinger block was four stories high, built of wood and tin sheathed. The entire first floor was occupied by the dry goods store of Isidore Salinger, the owner of the block, while on the second floor were the hardware shop of Arthur Brock and the office of Dr. A. S. Annis. The third and fourth floors were given over to assembly halls.

On account of the chilly weather it was deemed advisable to start a fire in the furnace in the basement this forenoon. Whether there was some defect in the heating apparatus has not yet been ascertained but soon after the fire was kindled great quantities of smoke began to pour out of the basement and soon permeated the entire building. In a short time the entire structure was ablaze. Seeing that it was impossible to save the structure the firemen directed their attention to the surrounding property.

During the fire Michael Spain, a chimney, was struck on the head by the portion of a falling chimney and was believed to have suffered dangerously.

Mr. Salinger's stock of dry goods was destroyed. He said that his stock was worth $50,000 and the block was valued at $40,000. The balance of the loss fell upon the tenants of the second floor and the owners of the furniture in the two assembly halls.

Man Says That He Stole Food For Her

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—In a dingy furnished room at No. 119 East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, a woman lay ill. There was no food in the room. She had tasted nothing since Saturday night. Neither had the man, who sat by vigil by the bedside.

Suddenly he was startled by a cry: "Oh, Will, Will! I'm dying, if I don't get something to eat—I die now."

The man sprang to his feet. Through all the years of poverty and illness, since their marriage, this was the first Bonker soothed out his gratitude, and was led away to a cell. Edward Cahillane, the proprietor of the barber shop, said he did not want to prosecute, and the district attorney's consent to a dismissal of the case will undoubtedly be obtained.

As usual, the little girl tragically was discovered too late. When the execution order arrived at the prisoner's home, he was amazed to find the woman was not there. They found her at the prison. She had staggered through the rain and wind-swept streets, nerved by superhuman strength, to find her husband. She was chilled through.

Though surrounded with common good food, and a physician's care, the woman was last night dying.

Farmers Happy While City Folks Find Fault

The farmers of the surrounding country who come to Lowell daily with their produce all were broad smiles this morning for they anticipated a good rainfall which is badly needed at present in this section. Farmers of course have been finding fault because of the scarcity of good corn though it is gen-

The farmers state that the dry spell has held back the corn crop and that a good rain will result in the corner towns of this section of New England is needed.

BURNING ECZEMA QUICKLY SPREAD

Started Like Ringworm on Hand—
Hand Swelled and Then Hurried
Spread to Arms, Legs and Face
—It was Something Terrible.

PRESCRIPTIONS FAILED: CUTICURA CURED HIM

"I have used the Cuticura Remedies for a very bad case of eczema with complete success. About fifteen or eighteen years ago the disease developed in the shape of a large pimple on top of my hand. It became so bad I could not bear it. I was compelled to show it to a doctor.
He pronounced it ringworm, and made very light of it. He gave me a wash and told me to apply it often, going to bed and all would be over in the morning. But the next morning my hand was all swollen up and I couldn't bear it. When the doctor came to his office I showed him the hand and to my surprise he told me that he had never experienced such a case in his practice and that it was well I handled it. After this his different remedies did not help and went up my arms and finally to my thighs and legs generally and finally on my face. The burning was something terrible. After I had told the doctor, as I thought, long enough, I went to another doctor who had the reputation of being the best in town.
He told me it was a bad case of eczema and that it would take quite a long time to cure. He made some advances of the case but no final cure. I finally concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies. I bought a case of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Powder and the doctor said it would help. I used the Cuticura Ointment in the evening as it is one of the best remedies to heal a case of eczema. I used a powder and soap and bathed my hands and legs and feet and the Cuticura Remedies are the best for any excrements were very severe and I am still using them. I feel much better and taking a mustard bath every night. I am not taking any other medicine now."

THE TARIFF BILL

No Discrimination in the Case of France

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—It has been no discrimination against France in the application of the provisions of the new tariff to that country, officers of this government are not aware of it.

They are quite confident that the impression which seems to obtain in some quarters in France is founded upon a complete misunderstanding. The facts may be simply stated from the point of view of the executive branch of this government.

In the first place, France, together with Switzerland and Bulgaria had reciprocity arrangements with the United States, under the terms of which certain of their products were admitted to this country at considerably reduced rates compared with those that were paid by countries which did not enjoy such agreements.

But other countries, mostly in Europe, seeing the advantage that these countries gained by not enjoying entered into similar reciprocal agreements with the United States. In their case, however, the arrangement was taken to state in the body of the treaties or arrangements—the exact period or the conditions required to terminate them, a course not followed in the arrangements with France, Switzerland and Bulgaria.

In enacting the new tariff Congress directed the president to have regard to the stipulated periods in terminating the reciprocity arrangements with the various countries, and also provided that where there was no stipulated term six months from April 30 was to be regarded as the date of termination.

Both Would Suffer.

This action was duly communicated by the state department to France, Switzerland and Bulgaria, the executive branch of the government being absolutely bound by the direction of Congress in this matter.

At the same time it stated that the President is entirely willing to consider carefully any representations in the nature of a protest that may be made. Indeed, there is reason to believe that exchanges on the subject have already taken place.

It may also be interesting to know just what effect the application of the new tariff would have on the commercial relations between France and the United States, presuming the normal course was followed, and just what might be the results of a tariff war brought about through the application by both countries of punitive tariff rates.

The balance of trade with France was in our favor during the fiscal year 1908, showing exports of $116,660,000 as against imports of $102,605,700, in reversal of conditions in the previous year, when French imports amounted

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—William J. Bemher, a man of 45, who said that he had been better days and had been driven to desperation by the loss of his dying wife, nor nourishing food which he had been unable to provide for her, was arrested yesterday charged with breaking into a meat shop and stealing a quantity of beef.

He had a dress suit case full of beef in his possession when arrested.

"For several days," said Bemher, "I have been unable to obtain any food. My wife is a consumptive and slowly dying, and I had no way to get the nourishing food she needed. So I took together some tools went to the meat shop near my home where I used to trade when I had money, and lay in by the rear door. I was soon too weak to bear the weight of the meat when I was arrested."

The maximum rates of France show large increases over her minimum or conventional rates, while the maximum rates of this country also show material increases in the article covered by the reciprocity agreement.

Classes of Goods Affected.

America would feel the effects in the exports of compoundoats, table fruits, dried or preserved fruits, common wood, logs, boughs, spruce, pine, mineral oils, lard and paraffin wax oil, while France would be hard hit in exports to the United States of brandies, still wines and vermouths and champagne, which form a large share of her trade with this country.

France has applied but about 50 articles on her minimum tariff her to the United States, and half of these are intended mainly for benefit of her colonies and do not profit us, because we do not produce them in this country. Under the French maximum tariff and its compounds are increased from 25 francs on 100 kilogrammes to the minimum rate, to 9 francs maximum, in manufactured and prepared foods, means the increase is from 10 to 160 francs on 100 kilograms. Porto Bleu coffee by the application of the French maximum rates would be increased in duty from 136 francs on 100 kilograms to 200 francs while sandal and refined mineral oils would be required to pay 15 francs and 25 francs on 100 kilograms, an advance from nine francs and an equivalent of 122 francs respectively—the conventional rates.

These products form a good portion of our exports to France under the reciprocity agreement.

Some American Figures.

When the reciprocity agreement with France expires, Oct. 31, for exporters it will be required to pay on American imports an increase of from $1.75 to $2.65 a proof gallon on brandies or other materials an increase of from 25 cents to 45 and 20 cents a gallon respectively, according to a statistic strength, on still wines and vermouth in cases an increase of from $1.25 to $1.55 when imported in cases made up of bottles or jugs and also an increase of from $6 to $9.60 a dozen cartons of champagne and other sparkling wines.

Should the maximum rates be decided by the president as a result of discrimination against American products there would be an addition to these rates of 25 per cent ad valorem.

THE ARMENIANS.

Protest Against Treatment of Countrymen

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—The Armenians of Boston and vicinity passed resolutions which demanded the delay of justice and the present attitude of the Ottoman government toward their countrymen in Asia, where 5,000 Armenians were recently butchered in an uprising instigated by the Turks in a mass meeting of 200,000 held Sunday, at 724 Washington street. The following telegram was sent to the Grand Vizier and the parliament of the Ottoman empire, and to Mr. Vartan, the patriarch of the Armenian church in Turkey:

"Having hailed the establishment of the Ottoman constitution, we, the Armenians of Boston and vicinity, shocked by the recent awful massacre of them, and by the indifference shown by the Ottoman government and after having our expectations literally disappointed by the belated justice assembled in mass meeting, Aug. 15, 1909, protest emphatically against the acquisition of secession attributed to the Armenians as a means of protection, and condemn the injustice of the martial court of Adana, which failed to punish the real authors of the crime. We also express our indignation for the execution of the six Armenians and the nine Turks who were but blind tools. As citizens of the Ottoman empire, we demand an end put to the persecutions of the Armenians of Cilicia, and the severe punishment of the real criminals, whose escape from justice is an irony of the constitution of law and justice."

Similar resolutions were adopted in all the cities throughout the country where there are Armenians.

The speakers of the evening were Vardan Krikorian, the Rev. S. Emanouelian, pastor of the Armenian Congregational church, and N. Tchikian. Armenian hymns were sung and considerable enthusiasm was manifested during the meeting, and money for sending the telegrams was easily found.

The transfers practically fill the vacancies in the archdiocese. Fr. Powers will probably assume charge at Chelsea during this week. He was born in this city, Feb. 24, 1882, graduated from the Quincy grammar and English high schools, and in 1882 from Boston college.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 17.—The Sutton court of inquiry closed yesterday after two sessions, at which the testimony relative to the death Oct. 13, 1907, of Lieut. James N. Sutton, Jr., USMC, was never thoroughly examined.

The findings were reached and signed last night. What they are the members of the court refused to say, as they will be reviewed by the navy department at Washington before being made public.

The findings were signed by the members of the court and by Advocate Leonard, who returned to Annapolis from Washington for that purpose. Major Leonard, guard by a regiment of sailors, Gen. Left Annapolis carrying the court's report with him for delivery to the navy department.

DRAMATIC CRITIC RESIGNS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—W. H. Winter, the head of American dramatic critics, has given his resignation with the New York Tribune, which he accepted in 1905 at the invitation of Horace Greeley. His signature was announced yesterday by Hart Leggett, the editor, who said:

"I thought it unfair to expect such a small part of the Tribune staff to be asked to go along with the Tribune, so I resigned." The Tribune, however, has agreed with him and his resignation has been accepted.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—It is the custom of the Lincoln Club to present a gold cent to the president on his birthday, but this year the club could not afford to do so, so the members of the club decided to use a nickel instead.

The club is a charitable organization, the members of which are engaged in various business interests, and the club's president, Mr. George W. Nichols, said that the club had not been able to raise enough money to buy a gold cent.

YOUTH WAS DROWNED IN WHIRLPOOL RAPIDS

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 17.—August Spencer, an 18-year-old boy of this city, went to his death in the whirlpool rapids after a valiant battle with the giant waves between the lower bridges and the pool.

With three companions, Spencer went for a swim in the river at the Old Maid Mill Landing. He struck out at once for the middle of the stream and then turned toward the bridge. His companions called to him to turn back for the current is very swift at that point, but he kept on down stream and was caught in the great sweep, the first break from the smoother waters to the rapids.

The boy battled for a time against the current, but of no avail. Then evidently realizing that he was beyond human help and was to be carried through the tides which took the life of Captain Webb, the English swimmer, and which have resisted every unaided human effort at passage, he deliberately turned down stream and began a grim fight for life.

Not in all the history of the river has such a brave battle been witnessed. Spencer went into the rapids swimming strongly and held his own until he struck the giant wave which ends up opposite the old battery elevator. There he went under and for a second was lost to the view of some people who stood on the lower arch bridge.

Again and again he disappeared, only to reappear each time fighting desperately against the terrible current, but when he was within 20 yards of the whirlpool his strength gave out, his hands were lost to view. Even then he had swum perhaps 100 yards farther than had Captain Webb.

The body has now been seen in the whirlpool where river men are waiting for it to be brought ashore far enough to be caught.

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

Member of the Associated Press

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1908 was15,956

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1909. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Only three weeks more to Carnival week.

Have you been offered the police commissionership yet?

Indications are that the municipal campaign will be a lively one, with plenty of seekers after the mayoralty nominations, at least on the democratic side.

When you talk about Lowell's record in the sporting world, don't forget that the cricketers are holding up their end in the league games, and also defending the city's reputation as a winner.

President Taft calls General Adelbert Ames a "foxy old man," and well he may, for the general trimmed the president in several games of golf, and it was not until "Friday, the thirteenth," that President Taft shook the "hoodoo."

A WISE PRECAUTION.

The managers of the automobile carnival have exercised considerable precaution in requesting that the Boulevard course be policed during the few weeks preceding the auto carnival. Had some steps in this direction been taken before one accident at least would have been averted. Local automobileists as well as visitors had an idea that when they reached the race course they were privileged to speed their machines to the limit. The managers of the races saw the danger of accidents, and also the damage that might occur to the race course, by this indiscriminate speeding, and acted wisely when they asked the police to take charge of the track.

A GOOD LOCAL SIGN.

The report that there is a rush of business at the Lowell machine shop, or the "big shop" as we of Lowell know it, is an indication of business prosperity. For years the saying in this city has been "when the big shop has a rush of orders there is no danger of a panic." Never before in the history of the L. M. S. has there been such an accumulation of orders as at the present time. When a company is obliged to advertise for skilled help one can appreciate the demand for its product. Aside from this view of the matter, such demand is a tribute to the excellence of local skill and workmanship. Prosperity for the big manufacturing concerns of our city means better conditions for local laborers, and also increased revenues for the local merchants.

THE POT BEGINS TO SIMMER.

Inasmuch as we failed to get our crazy-quilt city charter amended or the Luce law repealed, we must, for the present at least, continue to nominate our candidates for municipal offices in the old way. It will, therefore, be a contest between the democratic and republican parties for control of our city government. As usual the political pot begins to simmer in the month of August, and interest centers mainly in the mayoralty.

The democrats have a decided advantage this year if they are wise enough to make the most of it. The republicans make no secret of the fact that they are sick and disgusted and ashamed of their candidate of last year who now occupies the highest office in the city as a result of a municipal spree for which the "grand old party" was wholly responsible. They want some candidate of brains, character, ability and common decency to run against the present incumbent for the republican nomination, but so far no man of that stripe has shown the necessary courage. They're all afraid of entering what they call a dirty fight, for they are ready to vote for a clean and capable democratic candidate for mayor if such a candidate is presented to them at the polls.

This is just where the opportunity for the local democrats comes in, but are they equal to the opportunity? We regret to say that the present indications would lead one to conclude that they are not. Whether they shall open their eyes and come to their senses in time to save our city from another year of chagrin and public disgrace remains to be seen.

Already there are several democats mentioned for the office of mayor. Some of them are capable and worthy and some are not. There are men mentioned who could be elected and who would reflect credit upon the city, upon their party and upon themselves. On the other hand there are candidates who stand no chance whatever of election at the polls and who are fully aware of the fact. They are in the contest from purely selfish and unworthy motives and in the interest of the present mayor. That such men should receive the backing of democats who consider themselves leaders in the party and who have received favors from its members in the past seems too ridiculous for belief, but unfortunately it is true.

Under the old system how the democats could get a reasonable expression of their preferences through convention of party delegates elected by wards and precincts but recently they cannot put their will into effect unless they are violent and unethic in political activity. This they have ceased to do, but unless they put some of the old-time ginger into their wards' speech they will wake up to find themselves delivered to the enemy.

There is nothing in the law to prevent a representative gathering of democats to consider the interests of the party, and if the city committee would only bring about such a meeting at an early date the intelligent and honest sentiment of the democratic party in Lowell would be crystallized into a movement that would result in the nomination through the regular channels of a ticket for mayor and aldermen that would sweep the city in December and redeem it from the ever increasing evils resulting from official incapacity and public disgrace.

SEEN AND HEARD

Marriage is the cold plunge that follows a hot courtship.

X-rays will probably never become popular with employers.

Presence of dollars soon disappears for lack of presence of mind.

An American actress can't afford to be taken for what she is worth.

Love is the energized oxygen of life that often makes man and woman live in peace with a child wife.

Some people would be wondering why if women could only fly, they through an open mouth.

Platonic friendship is the ring that love wears when it chooses to avoid presenting the subtleties of women's humor.

A fellow was asked if he had a telegram to his mother, who said he had never had it, but added that he would "see her Friday." At the restaurant he called for them, and they told him he called for them, and they didn't see that he didn't stop till four o'clock were over and he took his belt. Then he was seen afterwards, and he had his coat on over his shoulders. He told the man behind the counter what had happened, and the fellow said, "He didn't get relief within a very few minutes; it will be all right with him."

"I'll do what I can," said the fellow behind the counter, and taking action to the word he passed the money with the billfold, a pink leather folder containing powder.

The powder worked like a charm and the gun stopped crackling. He wanted to know the name of the powder that had saved his life. "What do you call it?" he said to the young clerk. "I might want to call it 'It's something.'

"Why that was Hiranyakasipu powder," said the drug clerk.

SIC TRANSIT GLORIA MUNDI!

But yesterday McRae was 17.

His eye was good, his arm was strong,

Each time out but made a hit,

And was acclaimed by the fans.

He made a catch that saved the day.

And scored the run that won the game.

Adored by those who saw him play,

Whatever he wished was his to claim.

It seemed as if the cheering crowd

Would leave no wall or pillow stand.

Men madly fainted to be allowed

To touch his shoulder or grasp his hand;

Upon their shoulders mounted high,

He rode in triumph from the field.

And bidden with pride, congratulated by

The admiration there revealed.

Ah, poor McRae! To buy they must

Because he takes the empty air.

He merely struts, it seems to us,

The ball that swiftly passes there.

Because his error cost a run.

They wait when he appears,

And for another race begin.

To make the winning with oh-sops,

Thus thus the game of life is played.

In war and peace on sea and land;

The battle-flags are only swayed

By what they see and understand.

From the suns you may be exempt,

Your principles may have been

But if you could avil contempt.

You must keep running of the time.

So act in the Chicago Record-Herald.
